

TEACHER DELIGHT

Name of Submitter: Shelley Rusincovitch

Submitter Email: shelly.rusincovitch@duke.edu

AI in Medicine and Health: What You Should Know

The capabilities of artificial intelligence (AI) technologies have been developing at an astonishing rate, and AI holds enormous potential to benefit the health of individuals and communities. In this presentation, Ms. Rusincovitch will summarize the challenges and opportunities for AI to be applied in service to patients and providers, and discuss the current state of AI in medicine and health including actual applications and experiences.

Presentation Target:

All Audiences

Presenter(s):

1. Shelley Rusincovitch, Managing Director of Duke AI Health and an Adjunct Instructor at Durham Technical Community College