

INDUSTRY CONNECTIONS

Name of Submitter: Joshua Hunter

Submitter Email: jhunter@wcpss.net

Bridging Classroom Learning with Industry and Community Challenges: A Cohort Approach for Wake County Teachers

Join Wake County teachers as they share their journey of professional learning in designing community-centered student experiences through a RootEd partnership. Explore how they seamlessly integrate academic standards into real-world challenges, fostering problem-solving, collaboration and communication skills. Discover the strategies behind their community/industry-connected learning experiences, crafted in collaboration with coaches, students and community/industry partners. Gain insights into partnership development and on-demand support structures that facilitate impactful projects. Learn how these educators disseminate their learnings to fellow educators and demonstrate their commitment to transformative teaching practices. Learn how to leverage this model to foster learning connected to industry and community challenges.

Presentation Target:

K-12

Presenter(s):

1. Joshua Hunter, Senior Administrator-Curriculum Outreach and Support, Wake County Public Schools